HFM Chooses Competition Finalists

TUCSON, AZ—The National Society for Healthcare Foodservice Management (HFM) has selected five member teams to compete in the 3rd Annual Culinary Competition in Tucson, AZ, on August 22nd. The competition will be staged during HFM's annual conference.

The five teams were selected from 27 recipe entrees from hospitals across the country. Each team consists of a foodservice director and a chef. The finalists are:

- Marc Smith, foodservice manager, and Louis Borochaner, executive chef, Evans US Army Community Hospital, Fort Carson, CO;

- Julie Spelman, director of food and nutrition services, and Jaime Palencu, executive chef, Banner Thunderbird Medical Center, Glendale, AZ;

- Deb Jones, nutrition services director, and Karee Anderson, chef, St. Peter's Hospital, Helena, MT;

- John Hoffman, director of food and nutrition, and John Marks, executive chef University of Wisconsin Hospital and Clinics, Madison, WI; and,

- Mary Lou Paulson, director of food and nutrition services, and Paul Luttman, executive chef, Avera McKennan Hospital and University Health Center, Sioux Falls, SD

"This shows the rest of the foodservice industry that healthcare chefs are extremely talented and that they care about innovation and quality," said Todd Fouty, co-chair of the HFM Culinary Competition Committee and director of foodservice operations for MetroHealth Medical Center in Cleveland, OH.

The winners will have the opportunity to present their recipe during a live cooking demonstration at the 2007 American Dietetic Association confer-
